Clinical Conversations

with Guest Facilitator: Susan Reid

We are delighted to inform you that the Scottish Institute of Human Relations is again offering the Workshop Clinical Conversations.

Clinical Conversations is structured around two clinical presentations, one from a child psychotherapist, and the other from an adult psychotherapist, each lasting an hour and a half. It is an opportunity for each presenter to be 'in conversation' with a senior practitioner/clinician which eventually opens up to include all participants. Its purpose is to enable child and adult psychotherapists and counsellors to learn about each other's work and to deepen their thinking about clinical practice and related theoretical issues.

SUSAN REID is Honorary Consultant Psychotherapist and teacher at the Tavistock Clinic, London. She is the co-founder of the Tavistock Autism Workshop, co-editor of 'Autism and Personality', and editor of 'Developments in Infant Observation: the Tavistock Model'.

The event is open to adult psychoanalytic psychotherapists, child and adolescent psychotherapists, adult and child trainee psychotherapists, counsellors who are part of the SIHR Counselling Service and counsellors with five years of counselling practice and who are members of SIHR.

The Scottish Institute of Human Relations
- understanding people -

Founded as an education trust in 1971, The Scottish Institute of Human Relations (SIHR) is a national resource that provides educational programmes and services. A national charity, it has premises in Edinburgh and Glasgow, with a wide network of practitioners and members.

Why choose SIHR?

Understanding human relationships is central to emotional health and well-being, but sustaining and applying that understanding in the work of promoting mental health or social well-being is very demanding. SIHR, in its role as an educational charity, develops and delivers courses and services for people who respond to such demands in their professional lives.

Our courses and services translate psychoanalytic, psychodynamic and systemic ideas into practical tools for professionals in the health service, voluntary and faith organisations, and education and social services.
